Figuring out life one educated guess at a time

6 month SRS update

First off, holy shit... 6 months already? Wow. That has flown by it seems. Although to be fair a lot has happened in the past 6 months (well... 5.5 calendar months, 6 months @ 4 weeks/mo). So where do things stand?

Looks

Well, it looks mostly like a vagina at this point. Scar lines are visible, but mostly due to discoloration. There are outer and inner labia lips and it looks pretty close to a cis-vagina (at least once fully healed it should, i.e. 3-6 months from now).

Orgasm/sensation

Well, I can orgasm. Not from sex thus far, but it's not really been explored much at this point due to lack of partners mainly. But, I can get myself off if I'm in the right mindset.

Sex

Well, it can happen and has a few times. It's weird and I'm still trying to figure it out. One of the issues for me is that I've yet to have something that isn't too small or too large. The large side is a width issue, and I'll likely be picking up the orange soul source #4 dilator to try to make that better. But it is nice to have sex in this way. Also... I need better lube than QC that works with condoms (have a few thoughts, nothing tried yet though).

Sports

I play soccer and volleyball weekly and run more often than that (or try to pending stupid NE US winter weather). I'm noticeably weaker/slower, but it would likely be the same place if I had cut all exercise for ~4-5 months as well. Plus HRT. But I'll get it back.

Pain

Outside of sex, no real pain. Dilation can be tight, but that's largely due to me doing it once a day. I haven't lost depth so I'm fine with where it is.

Dilation

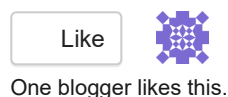

Once a day for most of the past month, with some exceptions (like work travel ironically). It's been fine so far for me. YMMV though.

Hair

Fuck hair. I can't ever seem to get rid of it all. And I don't want to do laser/waxing yet so things can heal more. I don't want to risk anything at this point.

That's at least the gist of it. I'll be posting some other updates over the next week or two that should have more interesting stuff.
